New water control structures were installed in Quail Hollow and Goose Lakes in 1999. Both lakes were stocked with bluegill and bass in 2000. Both lakes will reopen to fishing on June 1, 2002. When opened, there will be a 14 inch length limit on bass on both lakes to allow bass to reach spawning size and provide a sustainable fishery in the lakes. Quail Hollow Lake has a new concrete boat ramp. A walking trail is being developed around Goose Lake which will remain open for bank fishing only.
